

ONLINE PRIVACY NOTICE

I. GENERAL POLICY

1. Introduction

Howmet Aerospace is a manufacturer of high-performance advanced engineered solutions for the aerospace, defense and transportation markets. Howmet Aerospace Inc., having its headquarters in Pittsburgh, PA, USA, and its international affiliates (collectively referred to as “Howmet, “we” and “us”) have a global business presence.

This means that:

- (1) We generate revenue from selling products, not your data (see further details in our financial results).
- (2) Your data will likely be stored in the USA, and/or accessed by a USA citizen.
- (3) We are subject to multiple privacy laws and regulations.

Please note that the amount of information Howmet needs to collect in order to serve you in a particular business transaction will likely vary from case to case. If you choose not to provide some information it may not be possible for you to proceed with your chosen business activity with Howmet. Rest assured, as safety and integrity are amongst our core values, we apply them to the processing of your data and we are committed to its protection according to this Online Privacy Notice (“Notice”). This Notice applies to Howmet.com and other external Howmet websites that link to this Notice (the “Websites”). In this General Policy section we focus on those matters that are generally applicable to your data. You can find relevant country-specific differences in the sections below.

3. Automated decision making

There is no automated decision making in the context of any of the above-listed activities.

4. Transferring data globally

To the extent necessary, and in accordance with the tables above in this Policy, your data will be accessible from countries outside the European Economic Area, United Kingdom and Switzerland (including the United States, Mexico, China, Brazil, Australia) that are subject to different standards of data protection. Howmet will take appropriate steps to ensure that transfers of personal information are in accordance with applicable laws and carefully managed to protect your privacy rights and interests and transfers are limited to countries which are recognized as providing an adequate level of legal protection or where we can be satisfied that alternative arrangements are in place to protect your privacy rights. To this end:

- we ensure transfers within Howmet will be covered by an agreement entered into by members of Howmet (an intra-group agreement) which contractually obliges each member to ensure that personal data receives an adequate and consistent level of protection wherever it is transferred within Howmet including, where relevant, the EU Commission's Standard Contractual Clauses, the revised Federal Data Protection and Information Commissioner's Standard Contractual Clauses or the UK's International Data Transfer Agreement/Addendum;
- where we transfer your personal data outside Howmet or to third parties located globally, including outside of EEA/UK/Switzerland, who help provide our products and services, we obtain contractual commitments from them to protect your personal data, including, where relevant, the EU Commission's Standard Contractual Clauses, the revised Federal Data Protection and Information Commissioner's Standard Contractual Clauses or the UK's International Data Transfer Agreement/Addendum; or
- where we receive requests for information from law enforcement or regulators, we carefully validate these requests before any personal data are disclosed.

If you are located in the European Economic Area ("EEA"), United Kingdom ("UK") or Switzerland, we will comply with applicable legal requirements providing adequate protection for the transfer of personal information to recipients in countries outside of these areas. With respect to transfers of personal information to the U.S., Howmet complies with the EU-U.S. Data Privacy Framework (EU-U.S. DPF), the Swiss-U.S. Data Privacy Framework (Swiss-U.S. DPF), and the U.K. Extension to the EU-U.S. DPF, as set forth by the U.S. Department of Commerce. Howmet has certified to the U.S. Department of Commerce that it adheres to the DPF Principles with regard to the processing of personal data received from the European Union, Switzerland, and the United Kingdom in reliance on the EU-U.S. DPF, the Swiss-U.S. Data Privacy Framework (Swiss-U.S. DPF), and the U.K. Extension to the EU-U.S. DPF. If there is any conflict between the terms in this privacy policy and the EU-U.S. DPF Principles, the Principles shall govern. To learn more about the Data Privacy Framework (DPF) program, and to view our certification, please visit Data Privacy Framework. Note that data protection laws in the EEA, UK, Switzerland, and elsewhere may require those transferring personal data to Howmet in the US to enter into a separate agreement with Howmet before initiating such transfers.

You have a right to contact us at privacy@howmet.com for more information about the safeguards we have put in place to ensure the adequate protection of your Personal Data when this is transferred as mentioned above, as well as to receive a copy of such transfer mechanism.

5. Your Rights and Choices

You have certain rights in relation to your data that you can exercise through any reasonable means, including by completing our request form at <https://www.howmet.com/privacy/dsr/> or by sending an e-mail to privacy@howmet.com. We will make every reasonable effort to honor your request promptly or inform you if we require further information in order to fulfil your request, e.g., we may ask you for additional information to confirm your identity and for security purposes, before disclosing any data requested to you.

While the name of these rights may vary from country to country (e.g., the right to access in the European Union is called the right to know in California), in essence their purpose is the same: to give you back your control over your personal data. While we are encouraging you to choose the request type that best describes what you aim to achieve, we will evaluate its details, and contact you for clarification if necessary, to understand the desired outcome of the matter and to proceed with managing your request or complaint, in each case in accordance with applicable law(s) and/or regulation(s). Thus, we will focus on the content of the request and the expected result(s), rather than the request types selected - and will never refuse to act on a request based on only its categorization.

In all cases we will provide additional details, relevant to your request or complaint, about any next steps and their timeline in our first attempt to contact you.

Right to access data

You have the right to request that we provide you with a description, and upon request a copy, of your data that we hold. In addition, you have the right to be informed of: (a) the source of the data; (b) the purposes, legal basis and methods of processing, including its collection; (c) the data controller's identity; and (d) the entities or categories of entities to whom your data was transferred.

Right to rectify (correct) or erase (delete) data

You have a right to request that we rectify inaccurate data. We may seek to verify the accuracy of the data before rectifying it. You can also request that we erase your data - however, we will thoroughly evaluate such requests on a case-by-case basis and erase only when no exceptions apply. For example, we will not delete your data if we have a legal obligation to retain the data.

Right to object to, or restrict the processing of, your data

You can object to any processing of your data, if you believe your rights and freedoms outweigh our interests. If you raise an objection, we will have an opportunity to demonstrate that we have compelling interests overriding your rights and freedoms. You can ask us to suspend processing your data, in which case we will only be allowed to store the data in scope for your request, when you:

- want us to confirm the accuracy,
- oppose, or want to delay the deletion of your data;
- have objected to its use and we need to evaluate if we have an overriding legitimate basis.

Right to transfer your data

You can ask us to provide your data to you in a structured, commonly used, machine-readable format, or you can ask to have it transferred directly to another company.

Right to object to how we use your data for direct marketing purposes

You can request that we change the manner in which we contact you for marketing purposes. You can request that we do not transfer your data to unaffiliated third parties for direct marketing or other purposes.

Right to lodge a complaint with Howmet or with your local supervisory authority

If you have any complaints about how we process your personal data, we ask that you please attempt to resolve any issues with us first. Independently from our previous ask, you have the right to lodge a complaint with your local supervisory authority: a list of data protection authorities (DPAs), which, in our understanding are the most relevant from our Company's perspective, can be found in the section below. Feel free to reach out to us if you do not find the contact details of your local data protection authority, or if a link is broken.

6. How we protect personal information

Security

We have implemented and will maintain appropriate technical and organizational security measures, policies and procedures designed to reduce the risk of accidental destruction or loss, or the unauthorized disclosure or access to such information appropriate to the nature of the information concerned. As the security of information depends in part on the security of the computer you use to communicate with us and the security you use to protect User IDs and passwords please take appropriate measures to protect this information.

Storing your personal information

We will store your personal data for as long as is reasonably necessary for the purposes for which it was collected, as explained in this Notice. In some circumstances we may store your data for longer periods of time, for instance where we are required to do so in accordance with legal, regulatory, tax, or accounting requirements.

In specific circumstances we may store your personal data for longer periods of time so that we have an accurate record of your dealings with us in the event of any complaints or challenges, or if we reasonably believe there is a prospect of litigation relating to your personal data or dealings.

7. Links to other websites

Our Websites may provide links to other websites for your convenience and information. These websites may operate independently from us. Linked sites may have their own privacy notices or policies, which we strongly suggest you to review. To the extent any linked websites are not owned or controlled by us, we are not responsible for such websites' content, any use of such websites, or the privacy practices of such websites, even though you may enter that website directly from visiting ours.

8. Updates to our Online Privacy Notice

This Notice may be updated periodically and without prior notice to you to reflect changes in our personal information practices. We will post the updated version on our Websites and indicate at the top of the Notice when it was most recently updated.

9. How to contact us

Howmet Aerospace Inc. is the controller of your data. If you have any questions or comments about this Notice, or if you wish to exercise your rights, please contact us by writing to us at:

II. CALIFORNIA SPECIFIC INFORMATION

This section supplements the Notice above and applies only to California residents. In addition to the data collection described in the Notice, if we receive personal information of California residents in the form of contact details from business events, for example as part of a business appointment (e.g., by exchanging business cards) or as part of any other form of collaboration, we may use these contact and business details to maintain our business contacts. For this purpose, we may transfer your contact details to our internal database. Pursuant to the California Consumer Privacy Act, as amended by the California Privacy Rights Act (collectively, “CCPA”), you have privacy rights with respect to your business contact Personal Information.

The processing activity may include the following categories of Personal Information:

- Your contact information (e.g., name, title, form of address or salutation, address, gender, telephone numbers, email address); and
- Details on your profession (e.g., job title, position, personnel number, place of work, branch office, department, qualifications).

This data processing is based on our legitimate business interests. We have a legitimate economic interest in maintaining contacts beyond the initial context and in using them to establish and develop a business relationship and to remain in contact with the parties concerned. Such business contacts could also be easily processed in our email communications with you and then kept in typical business software, either centrally or on the electronic devices of our employees.

Disclosure of your personal information

In the preceding 12 months, your personal information was disclosed only for valid business purposes to recipients within the Howmet group and to external service providers as described in the relevant tables of this Policy.

Sale of your personal information

In the preceding 12 months, your personal information was not sold.

Sharing your personal information for cross-context behavioral advertising

In the preceding 12 months, your personal information was not shared for cross-context behavioral advertising.

Use of your Sensitive Personal Information

We limit the use or disclosure of your Sensitive Personal Information to the purposes set forth in the statute, including that use which is necessary and anticipated to perform the services we provide.

Your rights

This section specifically amends the “Your Rights and Choices” section of the Policy.

Right to know, Right to delete and Right to correct inaccurate personal information

Please see the “Right to access data” and “Right to rectify (correct) or erase (delete) data” sections in the General Policy. We will use best efforts to respond to these requests within 45 days. If we require more time, we will inform you of the reason and extension in writing.

Right to opt out of selling and sharing

You have the right to opt out of the selling and sharing of your personal information. However, we do not sell or share your personal information.

Right to be free from discrimination

You have the right not to be discriminated against if you choose to exercise these rights, and Howmet hereby confirms that you will not be discriminated against for exercising such rights.

To exercise these rights, you can complete our request form at <https://www.howmet.com/privacy/dsr/> or send an e-mail to privacy@howmet.com. When you exercise these rights and submit a request to us, we or our partners may verify your identity by asking you to authenticate your identity via standard authentication procedures. For example, we may ask for your email address, account number, or the date of your last purchase from us.

“Shine the Light” Law

California’s Shine the Light law (Civil Code Section 1798.83) permits users of our Websites that are California residents to request certain information regarding our disclosure of Personal Information to third parties for their direct marketing purposes. To make such a request, please contact us using one of the methods under the “How to contact us” section of this Privacy Policy.

III. JAPAN SPECIFIC INFORMATION

Data sharing within Howmet (Joint Use Notice)

As described in Section 4 (“Transferring data globally”) of the Notice, we may, in accordance with Article 27, paragraph 5, item 3 of the Act on the Protection of Personal Information of Japan (Act No 57 of 2003)(“APPI”), jointly use your data within Howmet group companies to the extent necessary to achieve the purposes of use set forth in Section 2 (“Data privacy at a Glance”) of the Notice. The scope of joint users includes Howmet Aerospace Inc. and its affiliates and subsidiaries (including those located outside Japan). The categories of personal data subject to joint use are as described under “Personal Data Processed” in Section 2 (“Data privacy at a Glance”) of the Notice. The entity responsible for the management of the jointly used personal data is Howmet Aerospace Inc. (201 Isabella Street, Pittsburgh, PA 15212, USA. Howmet Privacy Office: Barry Lombarts)

Where your data is provided to recipients located outside Japan, EEA countries or the UK, Howmet will ensure, as required under the APPI, that such recipients continuously implement data protection measures equivalent to those required under the APPI. Upon your request, and to the extent required under applicable law, Howmet will provide information regarding the foreign country in which the recipient is located, including information on the personal data protection system of such country, and the protective measures taken by the recipient.

Data rights

You may exercise the data subject rights described in Section 5 ('Your Rights and Choices') of this Notice to the extent permitted under the APPI."

"Right to access data", "Right to rectify (correct) or erase (delete) data" and "Right to object to, or restrict the processing of, your data" shall be replaced by the following items:

Right to Request Disclosure

You may request disclosure of your data held by us, as well as records of third-party provision of your data.

Right to Correction, Addition, and Deletion

You may request correction, addition, or deletion of your data where such data is inaccurate.

The APPI does not provide data subjects with "Right to transfer your data" and "Right to object to how we use your data for direct marketing purposes." Therefore, we may be unable to accommodate requests relating to these rights, as we are not legally required to do so under Japanese law.
